

Do not compare your walk with those around you. Do not compare your walk with one another, but compare yourself to the step that you were at before, and see: did you make another step? Did you go another place? Did you go from glory to glory?

Have you moved from one level to another? See that this is how I go—not based on what others do, not based on what you see, not based on what you know, but have you grown? Did you go one step upon another? Did you move from one level of understanding to another?

Have you seen My glory come in a different way than you have seen in times past? Have you recognized My anointing in a different manner than you had in days gone by?

Do not measure your advancement based on someone else's but base your growth on your understanding of Me, your intimacy with Me, what I have revealed to you, and how much of it you are walking in. You will see that you are further along than you think. You are further along than you have given yourself credit for, because you looked and said, "I am not like that person. I did not get to the level they have gotten to." I don't see what they see.

But you are seeing things today that you did not see a year ago. You are seeing things today that you did not see in times past. Your understanding things in a new light and in a new way. Because of those things, I say you are growing, and you are stepping in the way that I have designed you to grow, the way I have designed My kingdom to flow: step by step, precept upon precept. Here a little, there a little.

Oh, there will be some that want to say, "I wake up tomorrow, and things will be different. Oh, I know things will change." But you see, most of the time it does not happen overnight. Most of the time it does not happen just miraculously.

It happens as you yield to Me, as you trust in Me, as you follow Me. I give a little bit here and a little bit there. I take you one step and then another. I give one brick and then another. It is not one day there is nothing, and the next there is a building. It is one day there is nothing, and the next there is a block, and then there is another, and then there is another, until one day, those around cannot even recognize what they see in you: because you have grown to a greater place, and it is a place of stability.

When you Allow Me to lead you. When Allow Me to guide you. When you Allow Me to grow you I do so according to your level of maturity. I grow you according to your capacity to receive of Me.

I do not look at one and say, "You are better than another." I look and I say, "This is what you can receive. This is what I will give. This is where you come to. This is what I will provide."

I am not condemning. I am not comparing. I am not demanding more from you. I simply want you to walk in the maturity you have today. I want you to walk and grow and come closer to Me.

There is no demand from you. There is not something more for you to do. Just continue to walk with Me. Continue to see My love. Continue to receive My grace. Continue to hear My voice.

Step by step, little by little, you will see the grow and come closer to Me.
